1. BACKGROUND OF THE PROJECT

The Dniester HPC has been functioning for many years and various negative environmental impacts and other consequences of its operation have been registered by State Hydrometeorological Service downstream of the Dniester River. Generally, the critical pressures generated by HPC are well known. These are hydropeaking, altered water flow and fluctuating water level, sharp decrease of the natural water temperature values in the downstream river stretch which can be traced up to the Dubasari water reservoir, non-typical high transparency of water and reduced self-purification capacity of the river, drastic slow up of the gravel and sand sediments movement, extensive growth of aquatic vegetation in some river stretches, loss of valuable fish biodiversity and decline of fish population due to both blockage of migratory pattern, and changed features and loss of aquatic habitats, etc. Joint Dniester Expeditions have also indicated severe water quality problems, declining biodiversity and deteriorating ecosystems along the river.

To address cooperation on the hydro-energetics issues, currently, the Agreement on functioning of the Dniester HPC is being drafted and negotiated between the Governments of Moldova and Ukraine. It aims to provide the legal background for the functioning of the Dniester HPC and its further upgrading for full scale operation, as well as to establish responsibilities of both contracting parties in terms of ensuring safety of the HPC functioning, parties' rights, use of properties, leasing of land, etc. The negotiation process of the Agreement has accelerated during last 2 (two) years, and in 2017, the parties came up with a revised draft of the Agreement. However, because of certain provisions on environmental issues it is not ready for signature.

In order to understand the implications of the further development of the Dniester HPC on ecosystems and the population of Moldova, as well as to ensure that the position of the Moldovan negotiation team is based on scientific evidence, the Ministry of Agriculture, Regional Development and Environment of the Republic of Moldova requested support in elaboration of a study on the current and potential impacts of the functioning of the Dniester HPC on the territory of Moldova.

A comprehensive impact assessment Study covering a wide range of issues linked to the hydropower development shall be carried out. Finally, the Study shall provide both the Government and broad public with scientifically based assessments and data to be used for negotiation of the Agreement, particularly, addressing environmental, social and legal implications of such an Agreement.
